(Cherry Tree, PA United States) This review is from: Missions of Fire and Mercy: Until Death Do Us Part (Paperback) I have never read a book with such detailed war action. The Vietnam War, or as our government referred to it as a police action, was not a popular war in the minds of the American people. The returning heroes from that war were, in the most part, looked down on by way too many. In too many situations these men were booed, shied away from, and were outcasts to many who turned their back on war heroes. These men went through pure physical and mental torture just by being in the Vietnam area regardless of the fact that they were there following orders from our government. I never looked down on any of these warriors but felt so sorry for what they suffered by others actions. Most of these men were, and are still suffering with PTSD along with the affects of Agent Orange, a chemical used to defoliate vegetation in Viet Nam that many soldiers were subjected to while in action. Bill Peterson has written a classic book describing his life from the day he enlisted in the army to specifically serve in Vietnam to his life after. Most of his action was as a door gunner that shot through the huge openings on the sides of helicopters at any enemy humans, vehicles, and anything they perceived as a threat to their helicopter or men. Bill was also a helicopter Crew Chief during most of his service. This job required more than nerves of steel; it also created an instilled mental...
